FOREWORD

Disciplinary control in the public service is one of the Public Service Commission’s functions as stipulated under Article 234 (2) (b) of the Constitution. Public officers are expected to maintain integrity and uphold the dignity of the office to which they are appointed. It is therefore imperative that every public officer adheres to the rules of conduct and ethics as laid out in the law. While exercising the powers of disciplinary control, the Commission is alert to the fundamental principles of natural justice.

I consider that discipline in the service should be viewed not only from the aspect of imposing a punishment against the officer or deterring other officers from committing similar misconducts but also, as a way of moulding and developing a positive attitude in the officer. The ultimate objective of discipline is to create a motivated and dedicated officer who upholds proper work ethics for optimal service delivery. The easiest way to uphold discipline is to emphasize on self-discipline, that is, the conscious deliberate decision to comply with what is expected.

The first discipline manual was developed in September, 2007 to guide the process of handling disciplinary cases in the public service. Following the promulgation of the Constitution of Kenya, 2010 and enactment of the Public Service Commission Act 2012 there was need to review the manual and realign the procedures as per the Constitution and the relevant legislation. It is expected that this manual will address any inconsistencies in the finalization of discipline cases. The manual, however, is not intended to replace Service regulations or any other relevant laws.

It is my hope, that this revised manual will play a vital role in exercising disciplinary control in the public service.

PROF. MARGARET KOBIA, CBS
CHAIRPERSON, PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION
PREFACE

The Commission has reviewed regulations including those that govern disciplinary control in conformity with the Constitution. In an effort to enhance consistency in handling discipline cases, the Commission has revised the discipline manual to guide the ministries/state departments.

The Manual provides general guidelines and procedures to be followed in handling and finalizing of discipline cases. I am convinced that the revised Manual will greatly improve delivery of the discipline control function in the public service.

PART ONE—BACKGROUND

1.0 INTRODUCTION

The Public Service Commission is constitutionally mandated to exercise disciplinary control over persons appointed to hold offices in the public service. To effectively deliver this function, the Commission developed the first Discipline Manual in September, 2007 to guide the process of handling disciplinary cases in the public service.

Consequent to the promulgation of the Constitution of Kenya, 2010 and enactment of the Public Service Commission Act, 2012 there was need to review the Manual and realign the procedures to the Constitution and the Public Service Commission Act, 2012.

The Manual does not substitute the service regulations made by the Commission or any law made by Parliament as the case may be, but it is meant to guide the user. The user is therefore required to read the Manual alongside the following documents:

(a) Constitution of Kenya
(b) Public Service Commission Act, 2012
(c) Fair Administrative Action Act, 2015
(d) Public Service (Values and Principles) Act, 2015
(e) Employment Act, 2007
(f) Labour Institutions Act, 2007
(g) Labour Relations Act, 2007
(i) The Occupational Safety And Health Act, 2007
(j) Public Officer Ethics Act (2003)
(k) Ethics and Anti-Corruption Commission Act, 2011
(l) Prisons Act (Cap 90)
1.1 SCOPE
This Manual provides general guidelines and instruments to be used by the Commission, Ministries/State Departments in handling discipline cases.

The County Public Service may adopt and domesticate this manual for uniformity in approach.

1.2 OBJECTIVES OF THE MANUAL
Under Section 31 of the Public Service Commission’s Act, 2012, the Commission is empowered to make regulations for better carrying out of its functions. The Commission has developed regulations including those that govern disciplinary control, powers to issue instructions and to prescribe instruments on disciplinary action. In an effort to enhance the processing and presentation of discipline cases, the Commission has revised the Manual for use by Ministries/State Departments.

The objectives of the Manual are to:-

(a) Define discipline and understand its meaning in the context of the existing public service regulations.

(b) Define standard procedures for uniformity in handling disciplinary cases.

(c) Outline the steps in disciplinary procedures and processes.

(d) Create understanding on the roles and responsibilities of the Public Service Commission and Authorized Officers in handling of the disciplinary cases.
Further the manual provides guidelines on the following—

(i) Proper framing of charges;
(ii) Investigation of cases;
(iii) Analysis and evaluation of cases;
(iv) Making comprehensive comments and recommendations on cases;
(v) Application of other forms of punishment other than dismissal;
(vi) Prompt handling of cases including implementation of decisions.
PART TWO – GUIDING PRINCIPLES

2.0 INTRODUCTION

The Constitution, under Article 234 (2) (b), vests in the Public Service Commission the power to exercise disciplinary control over public officers. Disciplinary control is an integral part in the management of human resource in the public service. It is intended to help and encourage public officers to achieve and maintain standards of conduct, contribute to improved performance and productivity. It is based on principles of fairness as envisaged in the Constitution and other enabling legislations. Where applicable, other alternative intervention mechanisms need to be explored.

2.1 GUIDING PRINCIPLES

The disciplinary control in the public service is governed by the following principles:

(a) The rules of natural justice:

   (i) Procedural fairness, where an officer must be allowed adequate opportunity to prepare and present his/her case;

   (ii) The deciding authority must be unbiased when hearing and making decisions;

   (iii) Decisions must be based upon logical proof or evidential material.

(b) Fair administrative action which is expeditious, efficient, lawful, reasonable and procedurally fair. Every officer to whom disciplinary action is taken has a right to:

   (i) written reasons for any disciplinary action that is taken against him;

   (ii) prior and adequate notice of the nature and reasons for the intended disciplinary action;
(iii) an opportunity to be heard and to make representations in that regard;
(iv) an opportunity to attend proceedings in person or in the company of an expert of his choice, cross examine persons who give adverse evidence against him and request for adjournment of proceedings where necessary;
(v) notice of the right to legal representation, where applicable;
(vi) notice of a right to an appeal or review against a disciplinary decision;
(vii) information, materials and evidence to be relied upon in making a decision or taking a disciplinary action.

2.2. Alternative Interventions in The Discipline Process

Alternative interventions are an effort, undertaken by an employer, to address employee misconduct using a method other than traditional disciplinary action. This may, under the right circumstances, be a more efficient and more effective approach than traditional discipline. While alternative intervention requires more thoughtful decision-making and thus poses a greater challenge for supervisors than traditional discipline, the results can be worth the time and effort. Alternative intervention may result in modified behavior if used early on in the discipline process for less serious offences but may not be effective in more serious issues or habitual offences. The appropriateness of the particular approach will vary based upon the nature of the offence and personality of the individual whose conduct needs correcting.

Alternative discipline interventions in the public service can take many forms such as counseling, guidance, training or dispute resolution.
(a) Counselling

A counseling intervention is not a discipline action, as its purpose is not to create a negative experience, but rather to communicate helpful information and provide necessary support in management of psychological challenges. The Ministries/State Departments shall refer officers to the Public Service Guidance and Counselling Services Unit. The Unit will provide appropriate services in accordance with the Public Service Guidance and Counselling Policy.

(b) Guidance and Training

Traditional disciplinary action is not appropriate for situations in which an officer is trying hard to do well, but performs poorly despite his/her best efforts. Guidance and training is an intervention which can be used by supervisors to address poor performance of an officer when there is no misconduct contributing to the problem. Supervisors have the responsibility to have regular meetings with employees to explain workplace rules or whenever an employee is unclear about management expectations. Supervisors should also identify individual officer’s shortcomings which can be addressed through training and recommend appropriate training. The training intervention may include; role play, coaching, mentoring, induction and job rotation.

(c) Dispute resolution mechanism

Dispute Resolution Mechanisms can be used effectively to resolve, reduce, or even eliminate workplace disputes that might come from a circumstance where disciplinary action is appropriate. Alternative dispute resolution affords an opportunity to create solutions that are uniquely tailored to address issues at hand. The method shall be applied in accordance with the Guidelines for Mediation, Conciliation and Negotiation in the Public Service.
When applying alternative interventions the following should be observed:

(i) The specific offense/shortcoming that needs to be addressed;

(ii) Officer’s admission of wrongdoing/willingness to participate in the appropriate intervention;

(iii) The specific form of alternative intervention that will be used and its duration; and

(iv) Notification of the possible penalty for a subsequent offense.

(e) A public officer who is on interdiction should not leave the duty station without the permission of the Authorized Officer or any other public officer who is empowered to give such permission.

(f) A public officer whose interdiction has been lifted shall promptly be served with a decision letter, a sample of which is provided in Appendix III. Any withheld salary, allowances and benefits will be restored with effect from the date it was withheld.

4.3 SUSPENSION

Suspension process is as follows:

(f) Such decisions will also be communicated to the relevant professional body, where applicable.
4.5 RETIREMENT IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST

Retirement in the public interest may be allowed instead of the prescribed punishments if the Commission or Authorized Officer considers upon proof of the misconduct that:

(a) the public officer has nevertheless raised a mitigating factor which renders imposition of a punishment too harsh in view of the circumstances of the case;
(b) the length of service, benefits accrued and previous good record of the public officer justifies the retirement;

(e) Where the Commission concurs with the recommendation, the Authorized officer shall convey the Commission’s decision to the officer, informing him/her of the benefits, if any and the right of application for review within the time provided for in the regulations as per the sample letter provided in Appendix VIII.
